

Diary of an “Imposed” Quarantine

Saturday, March 14th, 2020

Dear friend!

Okay here! My brother arrived yesterday from Covilhã. The UBI (University of Covilhã) closed and because of it my parents think it is better to stay in quarantine. Where he came from there were no cases of this epidemic, but as he came by train and plane, my parents say that it is for the good of everyone. For me it's great because I missed him so I can't wait.

See you tomorrow friend,

Hi!

Yesterday I didn't even tell you, but I'm not going to have more classes this period! Because of COVID-19 and to prevent the spread of the virus, schools have closed. That's weird! I feel happy because I went on vacation earlier, but on the other hand there were a series of subjects that had to increase the grade and now I'm not sure how it will be...

We talk later. I will enjoy and play Playstation with my brother, I have to enjoy that he is at home.

Hello again, my friend!

After all, being at home is not so good! I wake up super early! My parents won't let me go to bed late. My mom already said that I have to study... how nice! My brother has online classes so I can't make noise for about 6 hours a day...!

It seems that in Italy the situation is dire. This looks like a war without weapons! I felt safer if my grandfather came to live with us.

See you tomorrow friend

My friend,

I already throw up TV news, seriously, I swear! If my parents listen to news again, I scream! And the numbers going up and dead and infected and I don't know what and I don't know what, what a horror! You can't anymore!

My mother realized that I am freaking out and then said that we are only going to watch TV news once a day here. And that we will play cards and make some games. Less good was that my father read that it is good to sunbathe and then we have to go to the pool to get Vitamin D a bit every day and exercise and such and I have no patience at all!

Today I am a little out of myself...

Hi friend!

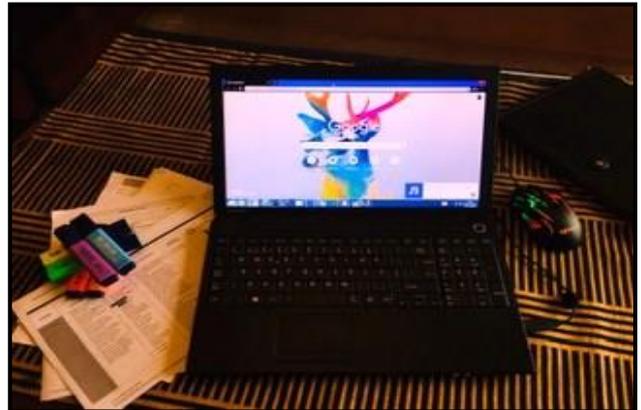

Now I have a long list that my mother created of all the exercises I have to do and she asks me about it every day. He almost preferred to be at school.

Today I made a cake with my mother and my brother made chili for dinner with the help of my mother, of course, otherwise nobody could eat it.

We got sun and worked out, and some games and I saw Netflix.

Basically this!

The latest news is that we have Corona virus in Madeira. We knew it was a matter of time...

I will tell you more tomorrow!

Hi,

Today Father's Day here at home was hardly celebrated because my mother's best friend died, who is also my brother's godmother.

My mother cried a lot of time quietly, I think so as not to disturb us, but I heard and saw her! I gave her a hug and apologized, because I didn't know what to do. What could I do? I felt so sorry for her! I had never thought of death like that! So many people are dying in Italy and Spain and around the world with this virus and I was so sad about the death of just one person. Am I unfair?

See you tomorrow

Hello again!

Today I did nothing but come here to write you and some sausage puffs with my mother.

This afternoon I'm going to do some math worksheets and catch Sol.

Yesterday I talked to my mom about "that" and I felt much better! It is normal to feel death, but when it is in people who are dear to us, it feels and hurts more.

See you tomorrow!

Good night!

Today I can only write now because I had a super busy day.!

In the B.C. Era (before the Coronavirus) my Saturday morning was fantastic! Always spent at my grandfather's house, and relaxing, with a breakfast made by him. Today, the day was spent cleaning the house with my parents and my brother! I cleaned my room, my bathroom and even the toy room! It's official, I hate cleaning!

I'm going to sleep!

Hello my friend,

It rained today! The day was marked by an astronomical number of deaths in Italy, of which many were children.

To pass the time, it was decided that today we are not studying and the day was spent playing cards, and my brother is teaching me how to play chess.

Tomorrow I hope to have more interesting things to tell you,

I'm honestly not tired of being at home!

I love being home! At this time when the news is scary and we don't know what to expect, I feel safe at home! I am with the family I love, we are all well, I have all the amenities, I have food, I have a lot to entertain, I have the books to study. In the midst of so much misfortune that I see around here I feel safe!

Nothing pleasant to report! I spent the day doing exercises and school work. The weather improved so I took advantage and played with my animals in the home garden. Sometimes I feel that they, too, are anxious, perhaps because they are used to spending the day alone and now they always feel here at home, at least they must find this extremely weird!

Today my mother said that she did not believe that I would go to school this school year anymore, unless they decided to extend classes during the month of June!

I don't even know what to think about this !!!

Today my parents have been married for years!

I didn't work today! Today was a party day! I had a barbecue with my father and helped my mother to make a cake! The only thing that went wrong was that at the end of the day I almost broke my head ...

In spite of everything that happens the truth is that the Sun continues to rise and set every day. Maybe I never noticed it before, but now I look and see that it is incredibly beautiful! Tomorrow will be another day ...

See you later
